Procedure to Supply a Counter-Notice to the Designated Agent:

If the content provider, member or user believes that the material that was removed or to which access was disabled is either not infringing, or the content provider, member or user believes that it has the right to post and use such material from the copyright owner, the copyright owner's agent, or pursuant to the law, the content provider, member or user must send a counter-notice containing the following information to the Designated Agent listed below:

4. Content provider's, member's or user's name, address, telephone number, and, if available, email address and a statement that such person or entity consents to the jurisdiction of the Federal Court for the judicial district in which the content provider's, member's or user's address is located, or if the content provider's, member's or user's address is located outside the United States, for any judicial district in which Website is located, and that such person or entity will accept service of process from the person who provided notification of the alleged infringement.

If a counter-notice is received by the Designated Agent, Website may send a copy of the counter-notice to the original complaining party informing that person that Website may replace the removed material or cease disabling it in 10 business days. Unless the copyright owner files an action seeking a court order against the content provider, member or user, the removed material may be replaced or access to it restored in ten (10) to fifteen (15) business days or more after receipt of the counter-notice, at Website's discretion.

Please read the following to learn more about our Privacy Policy. By visiting eneida.com, submitting information or using any of our products or services, you acknowledge that you accept the practices and policies outlined in this Privacy Policy, and consent to having your data transferred to and processed in the United States. If you do not agree to the terms of this Privacy Policy you should not use the websites and services, nor should you submit personal information.

What Does This Privacy Policy Cover?

This Privacy Policy covers eneida's treatment of personal information that eneida gathers about you when you are on eneida.com and when you use eneida's services. Also, this Privacy Policy covers eneida's treatment of any personal information about you that eneida's business partners share with eneida. This Privacy Policy does not apply to the practices of third parties that eneida does not own or control, or to individuals that eneida does not employ or manage.

Purposes of Collecting Personal Information About Users.

Our primary goal in collecting personal information is to:

- personalize and improve the service we provide to you;
- respond to any emailed requests you make to us; and
- customize advertising content and communicate with you (including, without limitation, provide you with email alerts).

We collect the following types of information from our users:

A. Information You Provide to Us:

We may receive and store any information you enter on our websites or provide to us in any other way, such as your nickname, name, email address, and other information you provide. You can choose not to provide us with certain information, but then you may not be able to take advantage of many of our special features, such as posting comments to our websites, creating a user profile or receiving email alerts.

In order for you to use certain parts of our websites or take advantage of certain eneida.com services, you may be required to complete a registration form and provide the requested information about you. Required information for all sites includes a nickname, email address and password.

When you use our websites, you may, among other things, set up your profile, form relationships, send messages, perform searches and queries, comment and transmit information through various channels. In most cases, we retain your information so that you can return to view saved lists or sent messages. When you update your information, we usually keep a back-up copy of the prior version.

You post information at your own risk. Although we allow you to set privacy options that limit access to your pages, please be aware that no security measures are perfect or impenetrable. We cannot control the actions of other users with whom you may choose to share your pages and information. Therefore, we cannot and do not guarantee that information you post on the website will not be viewed by unauthorized persons. We are not responsible for circumvention of any privacy settings or security measures contained on the website. You understand and acknowledge that, even after removal, copies of your information may remain viewable in cached and archived pages or if other users have copied or stored your information.

B. Automatic Information:

We may receive and store certain types of information whenever you interact with us.

eneida.com may automatically receive and record certain “traffic data” on our server logs from your browser including your IP address, eneida.com cookie information, the page you requested, and your communications and interaction with our other website registrants. eneida.com uses this traffic data to, among other things, help diagnose problems with its server, analyze trends and administer our websites.

Generally, our service may automatically collect usage information, such as the numbers and frequency of visitors to our websites and its components. This data is used in the aggregate, as a statistical measure, and not ordinarily in a manner that would identify you personally. This type of collective data enables us to figure out how often users use parts of our websites, so we can make our websites appealing to as many users as possible. In addition, we may provide statistical information to our partners about how our users, collectively, use our websites. We share this type of statistical data so that our partners also understand how often people use their areas and our websites, so that they, too, may provide you with an optimal Web experience. We also collect and use information for internal purposes. For example, if you are a registered user of the eneida email and/or subscription based services, we may keep records in your account history of your complaints about other registered users online behavior, and any reported violation of our Terms of Use that you or someone on your account may have committed.

Many companies offer programs that help you to visit websites anonymously. While eneida is not able to provide you with a personalized experience if we cannot recognize you, we want you to be aware that these programs are available.

C. Email Communications:

We may receive confirmation via HTML code when you open an email from eneida. We may also send out emails with news or promotions. If you do not want to receive email or other mail from us, please notify us by email at info@eneida.com and include sufficient information for us to identify your account.

D. Information from Other Sources:

For purposes such as improving personalization of our service, we may receive information about you from other sources and add it to our account information, including details of the purchases (and any associated returns) you make at retailers where you were referred by us (excluding any credit card information).

What about Cookies?

Cookies are alphanumeric identifiers that we may transfer to your computer’s hard drive through your Web browser to enable our systems to recognize your browser and tell us how and when pages in our website are visited and by how many people. eneida’s cookies do not collect personal information, and we do not combine information collected through cookies with other personal information to tell us who you are or what your screen name or email address is.

The “help” portion of the toolbar on the majority of browsers will direct you on how to prevent your browser from accepting new cookies, how to command the browser to tell you when you receive a new cookie, or how to fully disable cookies. We strongly recommend that you leave the cookies activated, however, because cookies enable you to take advantage of some of eneida’s most attractive features.
